JENIFER RICHARDS

BIO:

Oct 03

Jenifer Richards first began teaching English while in college to ESL elementary students during her student teaching year. Then upon moving to Italy after college, she taught English at a local culinary school for adults and volunteering in a private school teaching English to Italian children. Many years later, after having children of her own became a substitute teacher at CCA. After rekindling her love for working with students, she began teaching grades 4 and 5 full time. Her passion for English took hold, and she now focuses solely on that with students in fourth/fifth grade and high school classes.

Jenifer is an IEW certified instructor and believes wholeheartedly in the IEW process for producing excellent writers. She currently has a middle schooler and high schooler attending CCA. In her free time, she loves cooking, gardening, and spending time kayaking on the lake with her family.
