BIO:

Every year, the second and third-grade teachers' goal is to teach math and reading by making children curious, encourage each other, and most of all to love learning.

Seeing their eyes light up and their enthusiasm for reading grow may be Alissa's favorite part of the day.

Alissa and her husband, Adam, have five children from ages 6-19. She has a passion for seeing her children and her students chase after God's plan for their lives. Alissa loves photography, exploring new places, spending time outdoors with her family hiking, gardening, and cheering for them at various sporting and music events. She has her Bachelor's Degree in Music Therapy from Tennessee Tech University. Alissa started with Crossroads Christian Academy (CCA) as a music teacher in 2012. Working with K-4 and she now loves being in the world of second and third graders!

"Teachers who love teaching, teach children to love learning." - Alissa
